Lincoln University's Giving Day

27 October 2022

Grow our students. Grow the future.

Students are tomorrow's future

On 27 October, we are asking our entire Lincoln community, past and present, to come together on our first 24-hour Giving Day and support our next generation of students to help grow a better future.

Together, we can help support the next generation in finding solutions to some of the world's most pressing land-based challenges.

You can play a part in growing the best crop of future Lincoln graduates by helping to sow financial seeds of support.

Why is Giving Day special?

Your donation will go towards providing scholarships for industry-leading study programmes, providing excellent teaching and learning in a research-rich environment, and delivering some of the finest graduates into the sector.

All donations will be doubled thanks to our generous matching donors who have already pledged their support.

FOR ONE DAY ONLY EVERY DONATION

WILL BE DOUBLED!

I'm paying forward because I am grateful for all that Lincoln did for me. While my five years at Lincoln provided me with great friends and a team of mentors, more importantly, it set me on the happy and fulfilling career pathway.

Terry Donaldson,
BAgrSc (1967)

We hope you will join us on 27 October for our Giving Day as we begin writing the next chapter of our history.

Vice-Chancellor, Professor Grant Edwards
BAgrSc (Hons) Lincoln,
DPhil Oxon
